

Programme Learning Outcomes (B.Ed.)

The Programme Learning Outcomes (PLO) of the B.Ed programme is to develop a skilled and efficient teacher who has the capacity to integrate into a diverse and pluralistic society using the principles of teaching learnt during the B.Ed programme and become a lifelong learner.

After the completion of B.Ed. programme the student will be able:

- To assist students in understanding and valuing their special place in society.
- To establish a setting for learning that combines theory and practice.
- To foster in especially the virtues of peace, justice, equality, and brotherhood.
- To equip students with the knowledge and skills necessary to recognize and meet the needs of a diverse student body.
- To inspire students to act as agents of social change
- To reenergize education through partnerships with various organizations and colleges
- To offer aspiring teachers a dynamic environment that acts as a catalyst for the accomplishment of excellence while also having a futuristic outlook and a comprehensive perspective.
- To impart theoretical knowledge interlaced with a variety of pedagogical techniques, practical teaching experience, and the use of technology as a teaching and learning tool.
- To awaken dormant skills and creativity through a variety of co-curricular programs.